Anthony J. Lombardo, M.D., Ph.D.
Surgeon, TLC Indiana

at a glance

TRAINING: Dr. Lombardo's training begins at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he studied biomedical engineering. He went on to complete both his M.D. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Alabama School of Medicine, where he graduated cum laude. During his tenure in medical school, his honors included induction into the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Society, as well as reception of a Superior Achievement Award for the clinical curriculum. Numerous national awards, including grants from the National Institutes of Health (N.I.H.), supported his 4 years of research for the Ph.D.

Following a one-year internal medicine internship at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, Dr. Lombardo completed a competitive three-year ophthalmology residency at the Wilmer Eye Institute, Johns Hopkins Hospital, in Baltimore, Maryland. Subsequently, he was selected from applicants across North America for an additional prestigious one-year subspecialty fellowship program in refractive surgery at Minnesota Eye Consultants. This fellowship included training with world leaders in refractive and corneal surgery and treating patients from around the world with complex corneal conditions.

LASIK EXPERIENCE: As a board certified ophthalmologist who specializes in refractive, cataract, and corneal surgery, Dr. Lombardo is quickly gaining a reputation as one of the leaders in laser vision correction in the central Indiana area. He has performed laser vision correction using some of the finest excimer lasers in the world, including the VISX Star S4, the Bausch & Lomb 217, and the Autonomous Ladar Vision. His experience performing eye surgery has allowed him to serve as an instructor to train other ophthalmologists in LASIK.

MEMBERSHIPS: Dr. Lombardo is a member of the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgeons, and the International Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS: Dr. Lombardo was instrumental in introducing CustomLASIK to TLC Indiana and continues to work hard to educate other eye care providers in this new technology. He stays active in the ophthalmic community through publishing journal articles, authoring textbook chapters, and presenting at national meetings. He serves as an instructor at national meetings to train young ophthalmologists in cataract surgery and has served as an investigator for several F.D.A. clinical studies.

PERSONAL: He was born and raised in Huntsville, Alabama, where he graduated as the valedictorian of his high school class.
